

Important Tips

1. You must know the health and medical status of each member of your crew before you embark on any rigorous training such as day hikes, COPE, camping, and backpacking. The BSA Annual Health and Medical Record includes two parts to be completed by the participant and family. Copies of those two parts and a prior physical (summer camp, sports, etc.) will give you that health status information until the Philmont physical is completed.
2. All Philmont treks are physically challenging adventures and a rigorous conditioning program is absolutely important. Body weight and blood pressure must be under control and well within the recommended ranges (not just below the limits).
3. Crews are led by a youth member called the Crew Leader or Crew Chief, elected by the youth members of the crew prior to the Watchu Mountain Adventure in May. Throughout the months of crew development all youth members of the crew should be given the opportunity to experience each of the many crew jobs including the leadership positions of Crew Leader, Chaplain Aide, Navigator, and Wilderness Pledge Guide.
4. At least two crew members certified in both Wilderness First Aid and CPR must be with the crew at all times on the trail. The Watchu recommendation is:
 - At least three crew members be certified in Wilderness First Aid and all other crew members be certified in Standard First Aid.
 - All crew members have CPR training.

The Watchu Mountain Adventure patch is awarded to all crew members who attend and complete the training weekend in May

This guide was developed by the Patriots' Path High Adventure Committee to support our contingent crew advisors in preparing their crews for Philmont treks.

The links (underlined and blue) in this printed guide are "live" in the online version at www.watchu.org.

Wilderness First Aid Training

Philmont requires at least two crew members to be certified in Wilderness First Aid (WFA, a 16-hour course). CPR Training is a pre-requisite for WFA. Knowing it can be both difficult and expensive to obtain CPR and WFA training, Patriots' Path Council established a program using BSA volunteer trainers to keep the costs to a minimum. Training sessions are limited; check the Wilderness First Aid page on the Watchu Web site for the available dates, fees, and a link for online registration.

Chief Watchu recommends that each crew have three members certified in WFA. Watchu participants will be given priority for the November session; registration will not be opened to others until two weeks before. Registration for all other sessions will be first come, first served.

Leader Positions in a Crew

Philmont crews are youth-led. A key to a successful trek is for the youth members of the crew to select the most capable of them to be the Crew Leader (also known as the Crew Chief). Throughout the next nine months of the Watchu Experience it is the responsibility of the adult advisors to make sure that each youth member of the crew is given the opportunity to lead on a shakedown hike or during other activities. Just prior to May's Watchu Mountain Adventure, the youth members of the crew select their Crew Leader - if the advisors have done their job, the youth WILL select a good leader. The Watchu Mountain Adventure will provide opportunities for that youth to begin to take charge of the crew.

Other youth leadership positions in a crew are the Chaplain Aide, who works with Philmont's Chaplain staff and the Crew Leader to encourage spiritual awareness and growth in the lives of the crew, the Crew Reporter, who prepares a press release for local media before departure and after the crew's return home to promote and recognize their accomplishment, the Navigator, and the Wilderness Pledge Guia (Guide).

These four positions need to be filled after the Crew Leader is selected and before May's Watchu Mountain Adventure. At the Watchu Mountain Adventure there are briefings for the Crew Leaders, Chaplain Aides, Crew Reporters, Navigators and Wilderness Pledge *Guia*s. The youth select who they think will best fit these positions. Additional information regarding each of these positions and the process of selecting the Crew Leader is available on the Crew Development page of the Watchu Web site .

Watchu Mission Statement

It is the mission of the Watchu Team to assist all of our Philmont advisors in their responsibility to prepare, train, and develop the team skills required to achieve a successful, exciting, healthy, and fun adventure.

We are dedicated to the proposition that Patriots' Path Council crews will gain the reputation of best in class. Best prepared physically and mentally. Best equipped to cope with the extreme environment encountered on the trail. Best in personal conduct while traveling, on the Colorado Tour, and while at Philmont.

And most of all, best in the application of manners in concert with the Scout Oath and Law.

Prepared. For Life.®

Each Philmont trek is a physically demanding backpacking hike at high altitude and in a hot and dry environment. The goal of the Watchu Experience is to give you the information you need to prepare yourself and your crew so you can meet and enjoy that challenge.

The Watchu Experience

Patriots' Path Council's Trail to Philmont

You and your crew have completed the first phase of the Watchu Experience, Starting the Adventure. Hopefully you have used these nine months to take care of financial matters, required training and team building. Review pages 4 to 7 of your Crew Member and Parent Guide to evaluate where you and your crew are in your preparation for the adventure of Philmont.

The Watchu Experience has four remaining phases:

- Getting It All Together - seven months of anticipation and training.
- Are You Ready? - two months to evaluate the preparation of your crew. Are you ready? Where are the gaps? .
- Traveling and Touring - two days of fun, excitement, and learning about the Old West.
- Your Philmont Trek - twelve days climbing the high peaks at Philmont. Savor the moments - they are what these ten months of preparation are all about.

Each of these phases is described in more detail on pages 8 to 11 of your Crew Member and Parent Guide .

This Advisor Guide has been prepared to assist you in your responsibility to motivate, equip, and train your crew. Use the guide as a framework for scheduling and executing the tasks and responsibilities required of Philmont advisors. Those who do will find themselves and their crew fully prepared for the rugged challenge ahead.

The guide includes a Crew Preparation Checklist, an easy to follow timeline of all the steps necessary to prepare your crew for its Philmont adventure. Checking off your

Preparation Resources

The following documents are available for the preparation of your crew. They are listed in the order issued with a short description of their contents.

- Philmont Council and Unit Planning Guide - general information (one per crew) - available online
- BSA Annual Health and Medical Record - 3-part form, including participation advisories and height/weight chart (one per crew member) - available online
- Philmanac: A Trekker's Guide to the Philmont Backcountry - information about every camp at Philmont (one per crew) - January Advisor Briefing. Additional copies available from the Watchu Mountain Outfitters.
- Philmont TREKS - Itinerary Guide - detailed description of each available itinerary, including camp information and programs (one per crew) - mailed to each crew in March
- Philmont Guidebook to Adventure - invaluable pocket-sized reference, including equipment lists, health and safety guidelines, program descriptions and much more (one per crew member) - mailed to each crew in March
- Philmont Overall (Souvenir) Map - a map for planning purposes (one per crew, additional copies available from Tooth of Time Traders) - mailed to each crew in March
- Philmont Eagles Soaring High - pocket-sized devotional booklet for Christians, Muslims, and Jews - (one per crew Chaplain Aide usually provided during May's Watchu Mountain Adventure, plus one per crew member issued after arrival at Philmont)

Selecting a Great Trek

Philmont provides a series of pre-planned backcountry itineraries, 35 in recent years. Each has its own combination of challenges and available programs, such as rock climbing, horse rides, etc. All offer an outstanding high adventure experience - veterans of several Philmont treks will tell you "there are no bad treks."

In March, the youth of each crew will select and rank the six (plus three backup) itineraries that most interest them and suit their abilities. Most crews receive either their first or second choice if they respond to Philmont in a timely manner.

The "Selecting a Great Trek" presentation during the January Advisor Briefing describes the resources available about the prior year's treks and has suggestions that crews in the past have used to determine which treks match their interests and abilities. At the March Advisor Briefing the procedures for informing Philmont of the crew's six trek choices will be discussed.

A wealth of data for crews to use during their trek selection process is available on the Watchu Experience Web site. The current version of the resources listed on the next page will be provided to each crew during the coming months; prior versions are available online in the Philmont Document Archives. As much of the information does not change year-to-year, crews are encouraged to review the prior documents and to become familiar with them before the current ones are available.

Selecting a great trek is an important team-building exercise. The crew members learn each other's interests as they participate in the give-and-take of narrowing all the available choices down to a final nine, ranked in order of preference.

accomplishments as you and your crew progress toward Philmont will keep you on track - on track with all crew specific, Patriots' Path Council, and Philmont requirements. These are summarized on your crew's Watchu Passport.

The Watchu Experience Web site, Watchu Grams, and Watchu Alerts are important companions to this guide. The Web site has detailed information and instructions to assist you in executing your responsibilities as an advisor. Watchu Grams, transmitted to you via e-mail on about a weekly basis, both supplement the information on the Web site and provide a trail for navigating through all of it. Watchu Alerts will have the latest news and bulletins.

The four Advisor Briefings and the Watchu Mountain Adventure in May will be of great value to you, your crew, and your families. It is expected that all advisors will attend all briefings and all crew members will attend the Watchu Mountain Adventure.

Bringing all crew families into the Watchu Experience will give them an opportunity to participate in the adventure ahead and provide you with valuable assistance and resources. Start now by gathering your crew families together for an exchange of information, an opportunity to address family questions and concerns, a discussion of required equipment, and a review of the important health and safety requirements detailed in the BSA Annual Health and Medical Record.

Happy Trails!

Chief Watchu

The Allamuchy Tribe at Watchu Mountain

Advisor Responsibilities

A crew advisor's primary responsibility is for the health and safety of each member of the crew.

The Watchu Experience provides the framework and time-tested methods to help you prepare and train the members of your crew for a successful trek. Each advisor is expected to attend the four Advisor Briefings, in official BSA uniform, where essential information will be presented to assist you in preparing your crew.

Communication with your crew, including the parents of youth crew members, is critical. Creating a crew family e-mail network will allow you to share Watchu Grams and other information. Everyone must understand what is expected of them and what a Philmont trek is, especially that it is not "just a hike."

The Crew Preparation Checklist in this guide is an outline of the items necessary for preparing your crew. These items include:

Medical: You must be familiar with the medical condition of each crew member by reviewing their completed BSA Annual Health and Medical Record.

Equipment: Each crew member must have the proper personal gear for a rugged mountain backpacking trek. Crew equipment provided by Philmont (such as pots, tents, etc.) must be obtained for training purposes. Other crew equipment not provided (such as backpacking stoves, water containers, etc.) is needed for both training purposes as well as for use at Philmont.

Crew Development: Philmont crews are youth-led. Through shakedown hikes and other crew activities, you provide the opportunities for all youth of your crew to both experience the leadership positions and to view the performance of the other crew members in those positions.

Trek Preparation: Shakedown hikes and other crew activities provide the opportunity for you to teach your crew Philmont backpacking and camping techniques.

Trek Selection: You must be familiar with the specifics (programs and physical challenge) of the available pre-planned Philmont itineraries. This information will allow you to be a knowledgeable coach to the youth of your crew as they proceed through the process of selecting the five itineraries best suited to their abilities and interests.

You are also responsible for recruiting Scouts and Scouters so you have a full crew of 12, with no more than 4 who are 21-years-old or older. An unfortunate fact is every year some who plan to go to Philmont must drop out of the contingent, and you should be prepared to fill such openings in your crew, if necessary.

Lastly, the Lead Advisor will work with the Contingent Administrator to make sure all administrative requirements for participation, detailed in the Watchu Passport, have been satisfied.

Do you have questions? The answers to years of advisor and parent questions have been collected in the Frequently Asked Questions on the Watchu Experience Web site, www.watchu.org.

The Watchu Passport

The Watchu Passport is a summary of all Patriots' Path and Philmont requirements. Every item of the Passport must be completed and certified no later than the June Advisor Briefing. At each Advisor Briefing your crew's Lead Advisor will have an opportunity to check your status with the Contingent Administrator. The items of the passport are:
